The director of the film “War Horse” is famous Steven Spielberg. The film is a screen version of a popular novel by Morpugo. As you can understand, it is a war film. Spieberg made it for all audience except children under 13 because of some scenes of war violence. Some very good actors star in the film. The message of the film is timeless, it it about the horror of the war in which both men and animals die. The film presents the scenes of that terrible war quite realistically. There are a lot of powerful scenes in the picture. Sometimes it is painful to watch the adventures of main characters especially for younger audience.

The director is not afraid to be sentimental, his movie is deep and thought-provoking. A lot of cinemagoers are sure to enjoy this talented work.
